

St Mungo's, Broadway

19 September 2014

Congratulations to Sarah Webb who abseiled down the front of Senate House Library of the University of London on 11 October 2014. Although the prospect absolutely terrified her she did so in order to raise money for St Mungo's Broadway.

St Mungo's Trust is a wonderful charity that has, for many years, provided services for the homeless. Not only do they provide a bed, but support and advice in trying to help people rebuild their lives and improve their chances of obtaining employment.

If you would like to support this worthwhile cause any contribution would be much appreciated.
