

Students unhappy with estimated GCSE and A-Level grades seek legal advice about appealing - Ane Vernon for The Independent

01 September 2020

Commentary by Ane Vernon, Dispute Resolution Partner and schools and education specialist lawyer at Payne Hicks Beach, on the significant number of students unhappy with estimated grades seeking legal advice about appealing GCSE and A-level exam results, first published in The Independent and online on 28 August 2020 and reproduced with kind permission.

<https://www.independent.co.uk/news/education/education-news>

Ane is a specialist education lawyer who is highly experienced in dealing with disputes arising in the education and regulatory sector. Ane advises schools and institutional clients and represents individual students or their parents. She is adept at handling regulatory/compliance issues, membership, examinations, appeals, Judicial Review applications (for both claimants and defendants) as well as sensitive issues arising out of exclusions and suspensions.

For further information, please contact Ane Vernon by email or on 020 7465 4300

Click below to read Ane's commentary in The Independent