

ThoughtLeaders4 PrivateClient: Sudden Incapacity: Legal implications under the prevalence of Covid – Sarah Williams and Jessica Henson

16 March 2021

Payne Hicks Beach's Sarah Williams and Jessica Henson are respectively chairing and speaking at the ThoughtLeaders4 PrivateClient event 'Sudden Incapacity: Legal implications under the prevalence of Covid' on 23 March 2021. The timely and informative discussion will address issues of incapacity whilst determining the best interests of patients following a very challenging 12 months. In addition to Jessica Henson and barrister, Jennifer Lee, Sarah brings in Michael Mylonas QC and Dr Chris Danbury, following their recent joint instruction on a highly contentious COVID/end of life matter.

The panel line-up chaired by Sarah is:

Jennifer Lee of Pump Court Chambers; Dr Chris Danbury, Consultant, Intensive Care Physician and mediator; Jessica Henson of Payne Hicks Beach and Michael Mylonas QC of Serjeant's Inn Chambers.

To book your place on the ThoughtLeaders4 PrivateClient: Sudden Incapacity: Legal implications under the prevalence of Covid' click here