

Christine Webb selected as a Torch Bearer for the 2012 London Olympics

10 January 2012

The Firm is delighted that Christine Webb, a member of our Trust Department, has been selected as an Olympic Torch Bearer. Tens of thousands of people were nominated and Christine was selected by a judging panel because, following a family bereavement, Christine has focused her energies into running the Virgin London Marathon in April 2011 and has previously participated in a number of other races raising money for charities.

Congratulations to Christine.
