

Payne Hicks Beach further bolsters Property Litigation Team with Associate hire

14 May 2018

Leading central London law firm, Payne Hicks Beach, is pleased to announce the appointment of Scott Goldstein as an Associate in the firm's Dispute Resolution department where he will specialise in Property Litigation. Scott was previously Head of the Property Dispute Resolution Team at BP Collins and his appointment at Payne Hicks Beach is effective immediately.

Scott Goldstein's practice encompasses a broad range of property litigation work in both the high net worth residential and commercial property spheres. Scott has a wealth of experience in leasehold enfranchisement, disputes between directors of freehold companies, boundary disputes and rights of light litigation. He acts for commercial and residential landlords and tenants.

Scott will be a key member of Payne Hicks Beach's Property Litigation section of the Firm's leading Dispute Resolution department, led by Stephen King, Partner and Head of Dispute Resolution. Receiving instructions from a diverse client base, the Property Litigation section represents commercial occupiers, developers, property investors and individual owners.

Alastair Murdie, Senior Partner at Payne Hicks Beach, comments:

"We are pleased to welcome Scott Goldstein to Payne Hicks Beach, he will be a valuable member of our Dispute Resolution department. Scott's appointment further strengthens our property litigation offering as we continue to tailor important legal services to our clients' evolving needs."
